

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An analytical system to determine the presence of specific constituents in a liquid stream. The analytical system is an automated system that facilitates the testing
5 of one or more samples according to a variety of methods. The methods may be of varying levels of complexity and may be run either in parallel or sequentially.

20250101 10:00:00